

The Goodness of God

Date: Saturday, October 10, 2026

Time: 9:00 am to 1:30 pm. (Check in begins at 8:30 am)

Place: Calvary Church, 701 Spencer St., Logansport, IN

Speaker Bio's

Sarah Vianco is a lifelong resident of Cass County, where she and her husband, Matt, are raising their two sons, Cooper (14) and Mason (12). She loves the simple, country life and cherishes being surrounded by family.

Raised in the church, Sarah has known the truth of God's love from an early age. But it has been through seasons of waiting, hardship, and unanswered prayers that she has come to know His goodness in a deeper, more personal way.

When she isn't cheering her boys on from the sidelines, you'll likely find her with a good book, a crochet project in hand, or planning her next craft.

Robin Asher spent 16 years in the classroom loving on students before entering her second act as a marketing Account Lead. She knows a thing or two about unexpected pivots finding peace in hard seasons and rediscovering the goodness of God and who you are after tragedy strikes.

Robin is passionate about stripping away the expectation that we must be "Perfect" for God to love us. She loves talking to people about how God isn't mean, distant or judgey. He is a loving Father who meets us right in the middle of our mess. When she isn't managing marketing accounts, you can usually find her lost in a good book, singing or listening to music, camping or outside in her yard.

Emily Smith is a wife and a mother to my two beautiful children, and I try to find every opportunity to show Jesus to others through actions and if necessary, words.

I started teaching Zumba almost 15 years ago and now have switched the title to dance fitness and toning so I can add my own style of dance to it. I do a mix of Christian music with pop music. I absolutely love to encourage people not only in exercise but through joy and fun! We (me included) don't always get every move right, but we have fun trying!

For this event you are welcome to bring light weights, 5 pounds or less, but don't need to.

Deb Lute is the mother of two, grandmother of five and the wife of Rev. Dr. Daniel Lute, Sr. Pastor of Calvary Church. Deb has served with her husband in ministry for over 30 years serving in Indiana, Michigan, Oregon and Pennsylvania with her focus on women's ministries.